Narrative

The following responses are from a variety of participants; administrators, community members, consumers, family members, peer support specialists and professionals.

4 Evaluations Received

Overall, the presenters received positive feedback from participants. A majority of the respondents stated that the entire training was great and helpful when asked what information was most helpful. Some others responded that the most helpful part of the training was: the booklet; recognizing the signs of suicide; asking directly and knowing when to make a referral; the TALK outline and what to do in a crisis; how to talk to a person who is considering suicide.

Participants indicated they will use the information provided to: use as a resource; educate co-workers, family, friends and church members; let a person know that help is available and provide them with an 800 number.

Training topics suggested by participants included: more extensive trainings in this area; DSM 4 or 5.
